Peace Groups Map Plans For Fall Protests

Set Mass March
On Washington
For Mid-November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war groups, generally quiet during the first seven months of the Nixon administration, are mapping a busy fall.

One group, which includes veterans of the 1963 McCarthy-for-president campaign, reports organizations on more than 300 college campuses plan to take part in a one-day moratorium on regular activities Oct. 15.

In mid-November, a two-day moratorium is planned, together with stepped-up efforts to gain off-campus support.

Another organization, the New Mobilization Committee, is planning a mass march on Washington to protest the Vietnam war in mid-November. Similar demonstrations occurred here in 1966 and 1967.

"Antiwar activity is really on the increase again," says David Mixner, 23, the former McCarthy youth chief who is one of the leaders of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee. He said protests have picked up new impetus from President Nixon's (Continued on Page 2)

Beef Prices Said Not Reflective Of Cattle Mart

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The rise in retail beef prices is not due entirely to the increase in live cattle prices, Ray Frisbie, Kansas Farm Bureau president, said Thursday.

Frisbie sent a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin urging him to tell consumers the facts.

Citing prices in Kansas, Frisbie said "we had a drop in live cattle prices from January 1951 to January 1969 of 16 per cent while the price of round steak increased 15 per cent."

"Likewise, live cattle prices in June 1951 and June 1969 were almost identical yet for this same period we had an increase in round steak prices of 23 per cent."

Frisbie referred to a news story about a housewives' beef boycott on Long Island, N.Y.

Hard - Fighting Reds Stall GIs In Copter Hunt

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops entrenched in bunkers kept up attacks today on American infantrymen trying to reach the wreckage of a U.S. helicopter southwest of Da Nang.

THE wrath of hurricane Camille again touched the lives of Pickaway County families . . . It was reported that Mount, his wife Sue and son Jeff, lost all personal property in their home plus the family car . . .

Plane Fares May Go Up By Sept. 15

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commercial flying fare may be going up soon—the takeoff could be as early as Sept. 15 or as late as Oct. 1—with any exact rate rises to be determined after arguments before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The CAB has indicated to the carriers they may be allowed to increase fares to help counter rising costs and dipping returns. Oral arguments on proposals from five companies—American, Continental, Eastern, Northwest and United—will be held Sept. 4. Although Braniff and Trans World Airlines have not filed proposals of their own, Eastern says they back its approach.

Suggested increases range from American's 4.4 per cent to Eastern's 8 per cent. United wants its increase effective Sept. 14 while Eastern and Continental want their new rates to go into effect Oct. 1.

Three More Ohioans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has released the names of three more Ohioans killed in action in the Vietnam war. All three victims were Army men.

The Ohio casualties were Sgt. IC. David E. Carter of Hamilton, Sgt. David Gay of Cleveland and Spec. 4 Michael Brundage of Wickliffe.

A U.S. spokesman estimated that the lead column of 400 men from the 196th Light Infantry Brigade was about 800 yards from the site where the North Vietnamese shot down the helicopter Tuesday.

"Every time they start moving, they draw fire," said one U.S. officer.

"I've never seen the enemy fight so hard," said another. "Ordinarily they'll fight for awhile and then pull back, but these guys are standing their ground and fighting."

Dive bombers and helicopter gunships made attack after attack on the North Vietnamese bunkers.

For three days, more than 1,000 North Vietnamese troops have blocked American efforts to reach the crash site in the rolling foothills 31 miles south-east of Da Nang.

Among the eight men aboard the helicopter were Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan of Norwell, Mass., and Lt. Col. Eli P. Howard Jr. of Woodbridge, Va., a battalion commander. All eight men are believed dead.

The drive to reach the wreckage has become the focus of the hard fighting that has been raging in the area since Sunday. U.S. spokesmen claim that at least 469 North Vietnamese have been slain, many by a massive rain of bombs, napalm, rockets and artillery shells.

More than 1,200 U.S. infantrymen, Marines and South Vietnamese soldiers have been thrown into the fighting. Associated Press correspondent Richard Pyle reported from the area that 35 Americans have been killed, 10 are missing and more than 150 are wounded.

South Vietnam's Premier Gives Thieu Free Hand

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong in effect resigned today, giving President Nguyen Van Thieu a free hand to reorganize the Cabinet.

A statement issued by Thieu's office said the ailing 66-year-old Huong "has agreed to let the president make the decision of forming a new Cabinet."

A spokesman for Huong said the premier had agreed to the statement and that it would be correct to say he was stepping aside. However, he did not formally resign.

The statement said Huong "promised President Thieu that Premier Huong is ready to cooperate with him at any time or in any job when the president needs him."

140,202 Crowd Fairground For Expo's Opening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Opening day attendance at the Ohio State Fair soared above last year's figures leaving many officials optimistic that Expo '69's 12-day totals may reach the two million mark.

Some 140,202 persons, 73,417 more than last year, toured the state fairgrounds under blue skies and 80 degree temperatures.

The day-old fair already has its first beauty queen.

Kathy Stoller, 17, a pretty brunette from Paulding, was crowned Future Farmers of America Queen over 151 other FFA chapter queens.

Her court consists of Suzan Miller, 16, Convey; Sandra Anderson, 18, Lyndon, and Betsy Montgomery, 18, Kenton.

The first contest of the fair—that of being first through the gate—was won this year by Richard Blayne, 15, of Whitehall, a Columbus suburb.

Richard was second through the gate last year and waited in line for 72 hours to make sure he was first this year. He was recognized by a handshake and a stuffed bear from Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Military Chief Clamps Down On Irish Arms

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Britain's military commander in Northern Ireland ordered the vast majority of the controversial all-Protestant police reserves today to surrender their weapons.

The province's Roman Catholic minority had blamed the police reservists, known as the B-Specials, for most of the eight dead in last week's Protestant-Catholic riots. The specials number about 8,400.

Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander-in-chief and newly assigned head of all internal security said the order means also that no armed specials will be operating on the streets of Belfast, Londonderry and other cities, starting tonight.

He said the specials' duties in Belfast would be limited to guarding docks and other vulnerable points.

The general's action is almost certain to bring a furious, negative response from militant Protestants who regard the force as Northern Ireland's main bulwark against riots and republican subversion.

Richmond's Fears Ease After Record Flooding

WORST VIRGINIA FLOOD SINCE 1936 — A chair floats past a pool room in Scottsville as remnants of Hurricane Camille cause historic James River to flood in Virginia. More than 30 persons were known dead before the river crested, and the flood was called the worst since 1936. Entire Allegheny Mountain towns reportedly were covered with water and superhighways were blocked.

Rescuers Clear Refugees From Desolate Gulf Area

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — The storm-shattered 20-mile stretch of coast west of here was clear of most refugees today while soldiers and Seabees bulldozed wreckage in the final stages of a search for more victims of Hurricane Camille.

About 1,600 persons who had drifted back despairingly to inspect what used to be home had been shifted out of Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis and nearby points to refugee centers.

Gov. John Bell Williams said a minimum of 230 were known dead along the Mississippi coast.

Including those killed in Louisiana when Camille moved inland and others drowned in Camille-caused floods in Virginia and West Virginia, the toll was believed to be well over 300.

Due to erratic communications there was still no exact count of the number who had been found in Mississippi, placed in somber black death bags and taken to makeshift morgues, pending identification.

Early today, Nap Cassibry, a state senator and coastal area Civil Defense coordinator, put the death toll in Harrison and Hancock counties at "approximately 235." His figures, he said, didn't include Jackson, the third coastal county, whose coroner says he's signed two death certificates for hurricane victims.

"We may never know actually how many were killed," said Cassibry. "Some will be carried as missing for a long time before they're declared officially dead." He estimated the final figure would be around 315.

The confusion over the death count, Cassibry said, is due, in part, to "the sheer magnitude of what we've got to do and are doing for the living."

The swelling tide of aid for the survivors, meanwhile, was showing results.

Navy Capt. James M. Hill Jr., commanding the 800 Seabees engaged in the search and rescue operation in the area stretching from Gulfport to Bay St. Louis, said he expected to complete it today.

Bizarre Events Bring Hit-Skip Driver To Jail

"It was a nightmare of confusion Thursday night," according to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Radcliff was referring to a bizarre series of events that led to the capture and subsequent arrest of two Elyria, Ohio, men in connection with a hit-skip accident on I-71 near Mansfield Thursday.

The Mt. Sterling Police department contacted the Sheriff's office 9:49 p.m. Thursday, claiming to have referred two injured men to the Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H.

The men claimed they had given a ride to a hitch-hiker near Cleveland. They told Mt. Sterling officers the hitch-hiker retaliated by knifing them and stealing their money.

PICKAWAY County Deputy Francis McGinnis drove to the Fayette Memorial in an attempt to question them and file a report.

When he arrived, both men had refused treatment for their injuries. McGinnis reported that Dillis Swallows, one of the men, was bleeding profusely from a head injury and the other, Dennis Turner, had a punctured lip, a gaping hole in his chest and back and severe bruises and scratches covering his body.

McGinnis felt something was out-of-order. He had Swallows admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital and returned to Circleville with Turner, his wife Ethel, their 16-month-old daughter, Tammie and Swallow's wife, Louise.

Back at the Sheriff's office, the Ohio State Patrol warned all units in the area to be on the look-out for two hit-skip suspects.

Further questioning brought out the fact that Turner and Swallows were the men being sought in the hit-skip incident.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The second first-stage smog alert of the year in the Los Angeles basin came a day after the first and was officially described as the worst air pollution in nearly two years.

46 Are Dead; 100 Missing In Flood Area

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The James River, swollen by muddy flood waters pouring into its basin from the state's mountainous western region, continued its destructive advance to the Atlantic today.

The river crested at a record level in this capital city at 7 a.m., while behind was left a swath of landslides, crushed homes and 46 known dead, and at least 100 missing and feared dead.

While flood waters took their toll in drownings, some rescue workers in mountainous Nelson and Amherst counties—hardest hit of the flood region—speculated that more victims will be found buried under landslides.

The rain that touched off the flooding and landslides was a result of Hurricane Camille, which flung 8 to 12 inches of rain on the area as she passed through Tuesday and Wednesday on her way to her death in the Atlantic.

"That ground had all the water it could stand before the rain ever started," a rescue team leader said. "That latest rain just peeled every bit of earth off those mountains, trees and all. It took them right down to the rock."

Hardly a slope in the Blue Ridge Mountain foothills escaped the scars of landslides.

Okinawa Control Talks Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi will try to reach a general understanding here Sept. 12 to return control of Okinawa to Japan by 1972.

State Department officials who disclosed this said the general understanding would include an agreement on U.S. military rights on Okinawa after the reversion date.

President Nixon and Japan's Prime Minister Eisaku Sato are expected to meet here in late November to set formally the date for Japan to resume rule of the island.

Construction Boom Sinks Waikiki Area

HONOLULU (AP) — Federal surveyors have determined that the Waikiki area has sunk about two inches in the last 42 years and they blame it on the construction boom.

Cmdr. Robert Munson, director of the Honolulu field office of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, said Thursday, "They're putting down so many pilings and loading so much concrete on Waikiki, that we surmise that's the reason."

Pentagon Cuts Point To Viet Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's 100,000-plus cut in military manpower is likely to be viewed as a sign the Nixon administration is thinking big in the way of future troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, announcing the cut Thursday, said the military reduction over the next 10 months doesn't necessarily imply a Vietnam cut of that scope.

But he specifically ruled out combat troop withdrawals from West Germany, South Korea and Okinawa—leaving Vietnam as one of the few remaining places where large numbers of Americans are stationed.

Pentagon officials admit privately that Laird considers potential replacement of U.S. troops by South Vietnamese a factor in his plans to trim the over-all American military force level.

Furthermore, President Nixon said in June he hoped to be able to more than match a suggestion by former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford to get 100,000 combat troops out of Vietnam this year.

Some military officers believe the next withdrawal announced by the President will probably amount to no more than 25,000 men. Further pullouts could take place over coming months.

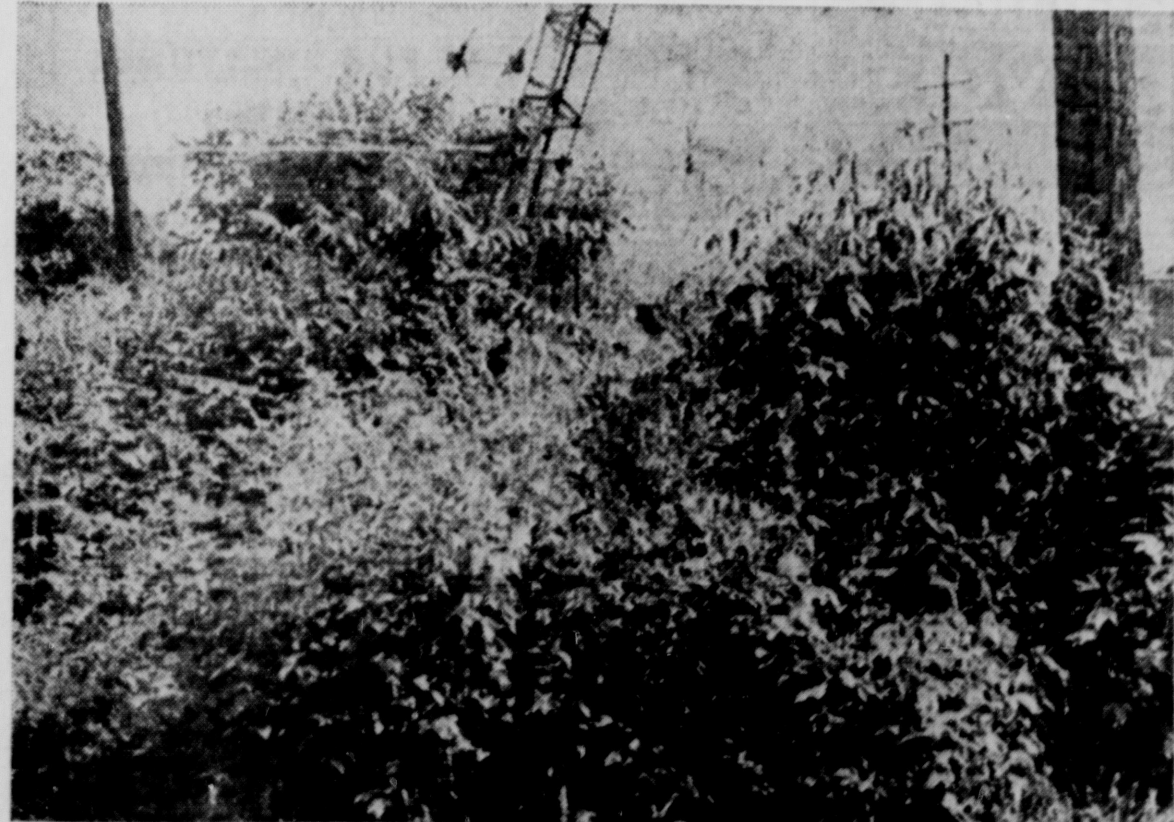

The "more than 100,000" man reduction comes as part of a congressionally directed Pentagon effort to slash defense spending by another $3 billion for the current fiscal year.

Laird already lopped $1.1 billion from the original fiscal 1970 budget at $77 billion, the Navy from the outgoing administration.

Under the new economy drive, due to leave the defense budget at $77 billion, the Navy will lay up 100 ships including the Battleship New Jersey, the Air Force will curtail training flights sharply and the Army is supposed to save $500 million in its various operation, maintenance and training activities.

Some members of Congress will find Laird closing down military installations in their home states and that could bring howls of anguish.

FOLLOW THE LEADER — This picture taken of "city-maintained" land makes one wonder which city. Its Circleville, whose fathers are carrying forth a "resplendent" campaign to banish such unsightly foliage from our back yards.

DEAD-END DUMP — A dead-end street in one of the north end residential areas of the community is the site of an overflowing trash can that is a prime example of "cleaning out our own backyards" as advocated by Councilman-at-Large Noble Barr during Tuesday's council meeting.

WEEDY BEANS — Some people don't care if their hill of beans is weedy. But this bean field in the heart of the city is so clogged with weeds that it creates an eye-sore, besides being a detour for rodent-haters and hay-fever sufferers.

Furthermore, President Nixon said in June he hoped to be able to more than match a suggestion by former Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford to get 100,000 combat troops out of Vietnam this year.

Some military officers believe the next withdrawal announced by the President will probably amount to no more than 25,000 men. Further pullouts could take place over coming months.

The "more than 100,000" man reduction comes as part of a congressionally directed Pentagon effort to slash defense spending by another $3 billion for the current fiscal year.

Laird already lopped $1.1 billion from the original fiscal 1970 budget at $77 billion, the Navy from the outgoing administration.

Under the new economy drive, due to leave the defense budget at $77 billion, the Navy will lay up 100 ships including the Battleship New Jersey, the Air Force will curtail training flights sharply and the Army is supposed to save $500 million in its various operation, maintenance and training activities.

Some members of Congress will find Laird closing down military installations in their home states and that could bring howls of anguish.

FOLLOW THE LEADER — This picture taken of "city-maintained" land makes one wonder which city. Its Circleville, whose fathers are carrying forth a "resplendent" campaign to banish such unsightly foliage from our back yards.

DEAD-END DUMP — A dead-end street in one of the north end residential areas of the community is the site of an overflowing trash can that is a prime example of "cleaning our own backyards" as advocated by Councilman-at-Large Noble Barr during Tuesday's council meeting.

WEEDY BEANS — Some people don't care if their hill of beans is weedy. But this bean field in the heart of the city is so clogged with weeds that it creates an eye-sore, besides being a detour for rodent-haters and hay-fever sufferers.

51st Annual Mt. Of Praise Camp Meeting Starts Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some 350 policemen, all helmeted and some riding horses, kept a close watch Thursday night over antiwar demonstrators who gathered outside the St. Francis Hotel where Presidents Nixon and Chung Hee Park were meeting.

By early today, three persons had been arrested. There were no serious incidents and no report of anyone injured seriously enough to require hospital attention.

"I think by then we will have pretty well swept the area," said Hill, who had another 900 Seabees engaged in cleanup work elsewhere along the coast. The Seabees, equipped with bulldozers, trucks, front loaders and forklifts, were joined by a 700-man Army engineer construction battalion from Ft. Benning, Ga., who brought in 189 pieces of heavy equipment.

"I feel that we are just beginning to get something accomplished," said Williams, who has been directing emergency operations out of headquarters at the Gulfport municipal airport.

Dr. Frank Wivgul, state health director, said the potentially hazardous health situation along the coast was under control with no signs of epidemic. The survey of damage was far from complete but the Red Cross said its preliminary count showed 4,717 homes destroyed on Mississippi's coast and in Louisiana's Plaquemine Parish (county), a flat strip along both sides of the Mississippi River south of New Orleans.

In addition, 9,718 homes suffered major damage, the survey revealed. Most of the homes were in Mississippi's coastal area, now under martial law and a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An aerial survey showed 94 vessels sunk or grounded in the Mississippi River below New Orleans by Hurricane Camille, including nine seagoing ships blown aground.

Deaths

MR. JOHN HARPER, 80, of Route 2, Laurelvale, died 10:35 a. m. Friday in Berger Hospital. Arrangements are being completed by Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

MR. JOSEPH F. DONALDSON, 46, of Kingston, was found dead Wednesday night in a second home which he maintained in Columbus.

He served as a minister for several years for the Spiritual Episcopal Church, Eaton Rapids, Mich. and operated the Village Bait and Sporting Goods Store, Columbus, for the last four years.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Friday.

World Council Of Churches OKs Aid To Racial Groups

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — The leaders of the multiracial World Council of Churches agreed Thursday night that white churches should make "significant" financial contributions to the racially oppressed with no strings attached. But they rejected the reparations tag for such payments.

To support the stand, the council representing more than 235 Protestant and Orthodox denominations voted to give $200,000—a seventh of its reserves—to groups representing the oppressed and to seek another $300,000 from member churches. Recipient organizations were not named.

New fears of disaster came Thursday night. State police reported three 1,000-gallon propane gas tanks and 10 smaller ones, all described as "highly explosive and extremely hazardous," were missing and "presumed gone down the James River" from a plant south of Buena Vista in Rockbridge County.

In Richmond the threat of cyanide gas prompted firemen and Army chemical experts to remove 450 pounds of cyanide sodium from a metal plating plant. Plant officials said they feared the reaction of the cyanide to the flood waters would form lethal hydrogen cyanide.

The fire department said the chemical had been safely transferred during the night and "there was no public danger."

A plant official said, "Everything that stuff touches it would kill."

Arab Youths Stone Troops In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — Still enraged by the fire in Jerusalem's 1,400-year-old Al Aksah Mosque, several hundred Arab youths boxed in a group of Israeli troops near the walls of the Old City today and showered rocks and sticks on them.

The troops fired volleys of machine-gun bullets above their heads but were forced to retreat inside the gates of the Old City.

Israeli security forces closed the gates. Inside Defense Minister Moshe Dayan was reported keeping a close watch on the explosive situation.

The outbreak followed Friday's Muslim players in the Dome of the Rock Mosque, which is 500 feet north of the Al Aksah Mosque.

The Israeli government had put a curfew on the Muslim holy place after the fire Thursday but lifted it today for the weekly prayer service.

As hundreds of Moslems poured out of the mosque through the narrow alleys of Old Jerusalem, a group of Arab youths began chanting and stoning Israeli troops.

An Israeli captain was reported injured.

Gunfire cracked over the city as troops dispersed the rioters, chasing some youths along the streets.

Security force threw up roadblocks on the outskirts of the city to prevent Arabs entering from the occupied West Bank.

The Israeli supreme court appointed a special committee Thursday night to investigate the fire.

2 Circleville Men Bound To Fayette Jury

A Circleville man was bound to the Fayette County Grand Jury in Washington C. H. Wednesday on a charge of attempting to fraud by check.

David Kneec, 19, of 341 E. Mount St., allegedly procured the signature of Edith McCoy, Route 5, Washington C. H., on a $900 check written to him and drawn on the Washington Savings Bank with the intent to fraud. He entered a plea of innocent and was held over to the grand jury under $3,500 bond.

Donald Donaldson, 21, Ashville, who was arrested Aug. 6, was also bound over to the grand jury on the same charge earlier.

The two allegedly had attempted to defraud the Washington C. H. woman of $3,000, apparently to cover the cost of having bushes and trees trimmed at her home. There was no indication of any major work being completed at the home, according to Washington C. H. Sheriff's Department.

than had been anticipated. The crest exceeded by nearly a half foot the previous record flood level set in 1870 and sent water lapping over Interstate 95.

New fears of disaster came Thursday night. State police reported three 1,000-gallon propane gas tanks and 10 smaller ones, all described as "highly explosive and extremely hazardous," were missing and "presumed gone down the James River" from a plant south of Buena Vista in Rockbridge County.

In Richmond the threat of cyanide gas prompted firemen and Army chemical experts to remove 450 pounds of cyanide sodium from a metal plating plant. Plant officials said they feared the reaction of the cyanide to the flood waters would form lethal hydrogen cyanide.

The fire department said the chemical had been safely transferred during the night and "there was no public danger."

A plant official said, "Everything that stuff touches it would kill."

Arab Youths Stone Troops In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — Still enraged by the fire in Jerusalem's 1,400-year-old Al Aksah Mosque, several hundred Arab youths boxed in a group of Israeli troops near the walls of the Old City today and showered rocks and sticks on them.

The troops fired volleys of machine-gun bullets above their heads but were forced to retreat inside the gates of the Old City.

Israeli security forces closed the gates. Inside Defense Minister Moshe Dayan was reported keeping a close watch on the explosive situation.

The outbreak followed Friday's Moslem players in the Dome of the Rock Mosque, which is 500 feet north of the Al Aksah Mosque.

The Israeli government had put a curfew on the Moslem holy place after the fire Thursday but lifted it today for the weekly prayer service.

As hundreds of Moslems poured out of the mosque through the narrow alleys of Old Jerusalem, a group of Arab youths began chanting and stoning Israeli troops.

An Israeli captain was reported injured.

Gunfire cracked over the city as troops dispersed the rioters, chasing some youths along the streets.

Security force threw up roadblocks on the outskirts of the city to prevent Arabs entering from the occupied West Bank.

The Israeli supreme court appointed a special committee Thursday night to investigate the fire.

2 Circleville Men Bound To Fayette Jury

A Circleville man was bound to the Fayette County Grand Jury in Washington C. H. Wednesday on a charge of attempting to fraud by check.

David Kneec, 19, of 341 E. Mount St., allegedly procured the signature of Edith McCoy, Route 5, Washington C. H., on a $900 check written to him and drawn on the Washington Savings Bank with the intent to fraud. He entered a plea of innocent and was held over to the grand jury under $3,500 bond.

Donald Donaldson, 21, Ashville, who was arrested Aug. 6, was also bound over to the grand jury on the same charge earlier.

The two allegedly had attempted to defraud the Washington C. H. woman of $3,000, apparently to cover the cost of having bushes and trees trimmed at her home. There was no indication of any major work being completed at the home, according to Washington C. H. Sheriff's Department.

Bizarre . . .

The men were driving south on I-71 near Mansfield when they collided with a truck. The semi apparently ran over their car, throwing the two men and a hitch-hiker onto the ground.

THE hitch-hiker apparently tried to free the driver of the twisted semi from his cab, but Turner and Swallow fled the scene in a car operated by Turner's wife, who had been following.

When their injuries proved too severe to continue their journey, they made up the story about being knifed.

Swallows is in very serious condition in Fayette Memorial Hospital with head injuries. Turner is in the Pickaway County Jail and their wives and the Turner child are in the American Hotel.

Law-enforcement officials in a three-county area are still seeking clues as to why the men fled the scene of the accident.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day the moon may be colonized—if some way can be found to provide it with an atmosphere.

This shouldn't take too long. All that is needed is a simple system for exporting to our lunar satellite a third of the hot air that emanates from mankind each day.

Once the moon is made habitable, who do you think should go there? Naturally, you have to consider that if they went to the moon you might never get to see them again in your lifetime.

With that fact in mind, here are a few offhand nominations: People who send you Christmas cards in August.

All pet owners who stick their squirming cats, dogs, parakeets and goldfish in your face and demand, "Did you ever see anything cuter?"

All people who think any country can solve its problems by dropping hydrogen bombs on some other country.

Any secretary whose finger-

nails are longer than her false eyelashes.

People who read your newspaper over your shoulder on the bus because they are too cheap to buy a copy of their own.

People on the bus who, when you have forgotten to buy a newspaper, turn and frown at you for trying to read their copy over their shoulder.

Anybody who has more pride in his ancestors than faith and hopes for the performance of his own progeny.

Butchers with overweight thumbs. (But can you recall ever meeting a butcher with an underweight thumb?)

Demure ladies who, when you start to kiss them, turn their cheek at the last moment—leaving you with a mouthful of face powder.

Ladies who, on rainy days, go heedlessly down busy sidewalks collecting the eyeballs of passers-by on the prongs of their umbrellas.

Gossips who insist they can't tell you a secret—then tell it to everyone else.

All money-hungry authors who write about sex as if it were a four-letter word.

All waiters who bring you sandwiches spread with mayonnaise after you've told them you're on a diet and don't want any sandwiches spread with mayonnaise.

All people who feel good on Mondays.

Hosts who pride themselves on serving odd drinks and hand you a Martini containing one ounce of gin and two ounces of clam juice, instead of three ounces of gin and 1½ drops of vermouth.

Anybody who can take a funny story you've told him and make it sound much funnier when he tells it.

There's only one trouble in making lists of people we'd like to exile to the moon. If all the people on all the lists were actually sent to the moon, the earth would be depopulated.

No one would be left here—no, not even you or me.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE MAYOR of a Texas town, sent the National Press Club in Washington a gift of home-grown citrus fruit. The club secretary wired, "Thanks for the delicious grapefruit." The indignant mayor wired back, "You darn fool, those were Texas lemons!"

One of those untamed moonshiners from the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia persisted in coming down for Sunday services under the influence of too much of his own product, which frequently resulted in his picking a quarrel with innocent pew-mates and taking occasional shotgun blasts at them.

"Can't you see, Jed," implored his parson one Sunday, "that not one good thing comes out of all this drinking of yours?"

"I can't agree with that, Parson," declared the moonshiner stoutly. "It makes me miss all these good people I shoot at."

- REPARTEE:
1. "Did you have any trouble choosing a name for your baby?"
 2. "No, my wife has a rich uncle."
 3. "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"
 4. "Polish them!"
 5. "But I don't love you."
 6. "Then why does your face light up when I enter a room?"
 7. "Oh, that's just a flash in the pan."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I lost our first child. He was born deformed. It is a year ago now and I cannot find any peace of mind. I have reviewed my entire pregnancy and even recalled the kinds of pills I had taken, to find a reason. I had come in contact with a child who had German measles in my second month. Can you help me find an explanation of why I have been punished?

Mrs. B. W. Michigan Dear Mrs. W.: The rest of your letter describes the many birth abnormalities that add to your pain and unnecessary guilt. You have had a very shattering experience which cannot be healed by time alone. The one possible reason for these birth defects may be attributed to the German measles that you were exposed to or even had contracted.

I do believe that it is time now to reconcile yourself that this experience is one of the unhappy ones that do occur but there are many exciting and happy events in store for you.

You must adopt a reasonable attitude that you have not been punished for anything you have done. None of us can look back over the years and not chastise himself for something that should have been done. Perfectly good lives have been wasted by those who, like yourself, continue to beat their emotions endlessly in an effort to do penance for that for which they are not responsible.

Rather than continue wasting your emotions why don't you now discuss the possibility of another pregnancy with your physician? He undoubtedly will give you the assurance that there is little or no possibility of a repetition of such a sad experience. You then will be able to concentrate on the true joys of raising a healthy child who will bring you limitless gratification by his good health.

My son is not yet three years old but is infatuated with skin. Ever since he was a baby he enjoys and is soothed by being in contact with me. Now he even comes into the dressing room so that I will pick him up. Should I discourage this? Is this a danger sign? He is normal and healthy and receives as much affection as any child in the family.

Mrs. S. C. Connecticut Dear Mrs. C.: The security your child feels when in contact with you must not be misinterpreted. All of us with a psychological background look

Can Treaty End Non-War?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Vicente Villamin, a columnist for Examiner: The Asia Weekly in the Philippine Islands, sends me his material from time to time. His insights differ from those that appear in the American press, and one is sometimes at a loss to know whether they represent Asian realism or merely a special quality of innocence deriving from the lucky fact that there is considerable blue water between the Philippines and mainland China. But, innocent or wise, the Villamin slants are those of a uniquely endowed individual thinker.

Sometimes Villamin achieves his effect simply by proclaiming that the naked king is indeed naked. For example, he observes, quite correctly, that the U.S. Congress has never declared war against North Vietnam, and that North Vietnam refuses to admit that it has any troops in South Vietnam. It follows from this set of circumstances that the U.S. is not fighting Ho Chi Minh. People are not exactly being non-killed, but it is a non-war. Why, then, are the North Vietnamese sitting in Paris at a peace conference? Since there is no "war" going on, what is the sense of trying to produce a peace conference? Since there Villamin has his tongue in his cheek, of course; maybe in both cheeks. But he is not being entirely facetious. As he says, there is no legal compulsion or political necessity for the U.S. to enter into a peace treaty with Hanoi.

Our dealings have been entirely with the South Vietnamese. We promised them that we would help them repel whoever has been beheading village leaders, seizing young men for impressment in guerilla bands, and "taxing" people for a shadowy "government" that presumes to rule the jungle at night.

Our only commitment is to build up the strength of the Saigon government to the point where it can go it alone in dealing with what, to America, is the non-enemy that has never admitted to using the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Once we have made Saigon self-sufficient in military power, we could simply depart.

Villamin looks forward to such a simple solution with relish. He foresees a time when the war in Southeast Asia will be "localized" and deglamorized. The world will then lose interest in it, the foreign journalists will happily return home. This is assuming, of course, that the Viet Cong can be "contained" and that Ho Chi Minh, tired of throwing his young men into a jungle meat-chopper, will himself fade out of the picture or try the line of "peaceful reunification" of the two Vietnams.

Villamin does have one fear. He quotes a letter from an anonymous Saigon correspondent who says, "We don't want peace too soon... the people are benefiting greatly from the American money in circulation. Peace will be against our prosperity."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

Indiana's Gov. Edgar Whitcomb is being bugged by complaints about mud camps. Apparently some Hoosiers want to know what's coming off.

There's a place in Indiana called Naked City. It's a kind of bare's den.

In the altogether, the Naked City nudists are taking the criticism stoically. Nudists don't like to be nettled.

Clothes make the man, it is said. Naked City men are starting from scratch.

While one may be permitted to doubt that Saigon is yet within hailing distance of military self-sufficiency, it might pay our Paris negotiator, Henry Cabot Lodge, to try Villamin's line of reasoning on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates. Since Hanoi has been fighting a non-war by sending non-troops over the Ho Chi Minh trail to non-encampments in Cambodia, Ambassador Lodge might wonder audibly just what it is that the North Vietnamese government has to non-negotiate. The Viet Cong, have admitted to war, do have some shadow of a claim to an interest in negotiating an end to the war. But even the Viet Cong is at some legal disadvantage in Paris, for, as Villamin says, McGovern is looking.

MORE BODIES, it is feared, will be found under this Hurricane Camille debris in downtown Pass Christian, Miss.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — With the consumer movement for safer and more reliable products expected to remain strong for many years the burdens on quality controllers are closing as relentlessly as hydraulic presses.

Quality control, once just another aspect of the production process, is the pressure point in almost any company today. And the pressure might even get worse as more complex products come off the assembly lines.

Add to the situation the continually increasing population and affluence, which means an ever-rising demand for more and better products. Now multiply this by an ever-rising demand by consumers for higher quality.

The result: greater obligations on business and more complaints from buyers. Moreover, the responsibility for turning out products that are good as advertised no longer is just a matter of a firm's reputation or a customer's continued confidence. The obligations are even greater and business knows it.

Money is involved. Suits by consumers are becoming more common. And lurking in the background is the threat of government regulation, which business understands equally well.

Just this month General Motors was sued in Los Angeles for $427 million for allegedly refusing to replace defective wheels on thousands of trucks. The suit was filed by two men on behalf of thousands of others.

Consumers today know that products can be improved, for they've seen thousands of industries and hundreds of thousands of workers combine their efforts to make a rocket and moon vehicle that performed with better than 99 per cent efficiency.

What the consumer is unlikely to accept, however, is the added costs involved in such precise quality control. The prices of automobiles might become prohibitive, and those on washing machines would drive home-makers back to the scrub board.

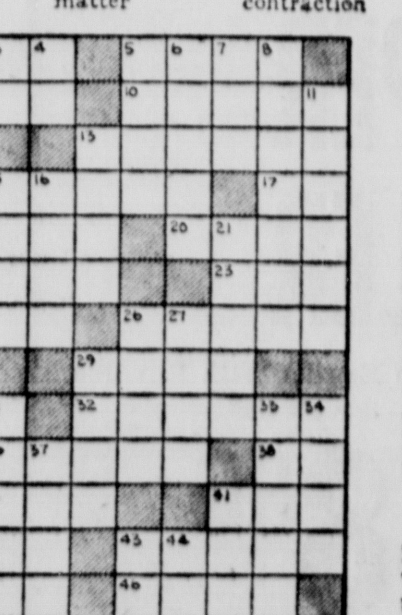

Quality is improving, the manufacturers insist. Standards today were often unachievable in the 1930s, and in the 1980s the standards very likely will be higher than they are today.

But, the manufacturers point out, realism rather than idealism must prevail in the market place. If perfect products are sent to market and nobody can afford them, then the perfect manufacturer will soon cease operations.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some day the moon may be colonized—if some way can be found to provide it with an atmosphere.

This shouldn't take too long. All that is needed is a simple system for exporting to our lunar satellite a third of the hot air that emanates from mankind each day.

Once the moon is made habitable, who do you think should go there? Naturally, you have to consider that if they went to the moon you might never get to see them again in your lifetime.

With that fact in mind, here are a few offhand nominations: People who send you Christmas cards in August.

All pet owners who stick their squirming cats, dogs, parakeets and goldfish in your face and demand, "Did you ever see anything cuter?"

All people who think any country can solve its problems by dropping hydrogen bombs on some other country.

Any secretary whose finger-

nails are longer than her false eyelashes.

People who read your newspaper over your shoulder on the bus because they are too cheap to buy a copy of their own.

People on the bus who, when you have forgotten to buy a newspaper, turn and frown at you for trying to read their copy over their shoulder.

Anybody who has more pride in his ancestors than faith and hopes for the performance of his own progeny.

Butchers with overweight thumbs. (But can you recall ever meeting a butcher with an underweight thumb?)

Demure ladies who, when you start to kiss them, turn their cheek at the last moment—leaving you with a mouthful of face powder.

Ladies who, on rainy days, go heedlessly down busy sidewalks collecting the eyeballs of passers-by on the prongs of their umbrellas.

Gossips who insist they can't tell you a secret—then tell it to everyone else.

All money-hungry authors who write about sex as if it were a four-letter word.

All waiters who bring you sandwiches spread with mayonnaise after you've told them you're on a diet and don't want any sandwiches spread with mayonnaise.

All people who feel good on Mondays.

Hosts who pride themselves on serving odd drinks and hand you a Martini containing one ounce of gin and two ounces of clam juice, instead of three ounces of gin and 1½ drops of vermouth.

Anybody who can take a funny story you've told him and make it sound much funnier when he tells it.

There's only one trouble in making lists of people we'd like to exile to the moon. If all the people on all the lists were actually sent to the moon, the earth would be depopulated.

No one would be left here—no, not even you or me.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE MAYOR of a Texas town, sent the National Press Club in Washington a gift of home-grown citrus fruit. The club secretary wired, "Thanks for the delicious grapefruit." The indignant mayor wired back, "You darn fool, those were Texas LEMONS!"

One of those untamed moonshiners from the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia persisted in coming down for Sunday services under the influence of too much of his own product, which frequently resulted in his picking a quarrel with innocent pew-mates and taking occasional shotgun blasts at them.

"Can't you see, Jed," implored his parson one Sunday, "that not one good thing comes out of all this drinking of yours?"

"I can't agree with that, Parson," declared the moonshiner stoutly. "It makes me miss all these good people I shoot at."

REPEATED:
1. "Did you have any trouble choosing a name for your baby?"
2. "No, my wife has a rich uncle."
3. "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"
4. "Polish them!"
5. "But I don't love you."
6. "Then why does your face light up when I enter a room?"
7. "Oh, that's just a flash in the pan."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I lost our first child. He was born deformed. It is a year ago now and I cannot find any peace of mind. I have reviewed my entire pregnancy and even recalled the kinds of pills I had taken, to find a reason. I had come in contact with a child who had German measles in my second month. Can you help me find an explanation of why I have been punished?

Mrs. B. W. Michigan Dear Mrs. W.: The rest of your letter describes the many birth abnormalities that add to your pain and unnecessary guilt. You have had a very shattering experience which cannot be healed by time alone.

The one possible reason for these birth defects may be attributed to the German measles that you were exposed to or even had contracted.

I do believe that it is time now to reconcile yourself that this experience is one of the unhappy ones that do occur but there are many exciting and happy events in store for you.

You must adopt a reasonable attitude that you have not been punished for anything you have done. None of us can look back over the years and not chastise himself for something that should have been done. Perfectly good lives have been wasted by those who, like yourself, continue to beat their emotions endlessly in an effort to do penance for that for which they are not responsible.

Rather than continue wasting your emotions why don't you now discuss the possibility of another pregnancy with your physician? He undoubtedly will give you the assurance that there is little or no possibility of a repetition of such a sad experience. You then will be able to concentrate on the true joys of raising a healthy child who will bring you limitless gratification by his good health.

My son is not yet three years old but is infatuated with skin. Ever since he was a baby he enjoys and is soothed by being in contact with me. Now he even comes into the dressing room so that I will pick him up. Should I discourage this? Is this a danger sign? He is normal and healthy and receives as much affection as any child in the family.

Mrs. S. C. Connecticut Dear Mrs. C.: The security your child feels when in contact with you must not be misinterpreted. All of us with a psychological background look

Can Treaty End Non-War?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Vicente Villamin, a columnist for Examiner: The Asia Weekly in the Philippine Islands, sends me his material from time to time. His insights differ from those that appear in the American press, and one is sometimes at a loss to know whether they represent Asian realism or merely a special quality of innocence deriving from the lucky fact that there is considerable blue water between the Philippines and mainland China. But, innocent or wise, the Villamin slants are those of a uniquely endowed individual thinker.

Sometimes Villamin achieves his effect simply by proclaiming that the naked king is indeed naked. For example, he observes, quite correctly, that the U.S. Congress has never declared war against North Vietnam, and that North Vietnam refuses to admit that it has any troops in South Vietnam. It follows from this set of circumstances that the U.S. is not fighting Ho Chi Minh. People are not exactly being non-killed, but it is a non-war. Why, then, are the North Vietnamese sitting in Paris at a peace conference? Since there is no "war" going on, what is the sense of trying to produce a peace conference? Since there Villamin has his tongue in his cheek, of course; maybe in both cheeks. But he is not being entirely facetious. As he says, there is no legal compulsion or political necessity for the U.S. to enter into a peace treaty with Hanoi.

Our dealings have been entirely with the South Vietnamese. We promised them that we would help them repel whoever has been beheading village leaders, seizing young men for impressment in guerrilla bands, and "taxing" people for a shadowy "government" that presumes to rule the jungle at night.

Our only commitment is to build up the strength of the Saigon government to the point where it can go it alone in dealing with what, to America, is the non-enemy that has never admitted to using the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Once we have made Saigon self-sufficient in military power, we could simply depart.

Villamin looks forward to such a simple solution with relish. He foresees a time when the war in Southeast Asia will be "localized" and delegamized. The world will then lose interest in it, the foreign journalists will happily return home. This is assuming, of course, that the Viet Cong can be "contained" and that Ho Chi Minh, tired of throwing his young men into a jungle meat-chopper, will himself fade out of the picture or try the line of "peaceful reunification" of the two Vietnams.

Villamin does have one fear. He quotes a letter from an anonymous Saigon correspondent who says, "We don't want peace too soon... the people are benefiting greatly from the American money in circulation. Peace will be against our prosperity."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

Indiana's Gov. Edgar Whitcomb is being bugged by complaints about nudist camps. Apparently some Hoosiers want to know what's coming off.

There's a place in Indiana called Naked City. It's a kind of bare's den.

In the altogether, the Naked City nudists are taking the criticism stoically. Nudists don't like to be nettled.

Clothes make the man, it is said. Naked City men are starting from scratch.

While one may be permitted to doubt that Saigon is yet within hailing distance of military self-sufficiency, it might pay our Paris negotiator, Henry Cabot Lodge, to try Villamin's line of reasoning on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates. Since Hanoi has been fighting a non-war by sending non-troops over the Ho Chi Minh trail to non-encampments in Cambodia, Ambassador Lodge might wonder audibly just what it is that the North Vietnamese government has to non-negotiate. The Viet Cong, have admitted to a claim to an interest in negotiating an end to the war. But even the Viet Cong is at some legal disadvantage in Paris, for, as Villamin says, its "provisional revolutionary government" has no known and definite address.

Villamin's Asian view is that Hanoi is mistaken when "she thinks she is negotiating from a position of strength." "What kind of strength does she possess?" asks Villamin. Answering his own question, he observes that Hanoi "is exhausted generally and weakened militarily... in the vernacular, she is bluffing and thinks she is getting away with it, misunderstanding the consideration of the other side."

Villamin is obviously right about everything except our "considerateness." We aren't "considerate;" we are just scared of using chutzpah on Ho Chi Minh while Senator George McGovern is looking.

MORE BODIES, it is feared, will be found under this Hurricane Camille debris in downtown Pass Christian, Miss.

'Right' Idea Can Hurt Her!

DEAR ABBY: A lady I knew (not well) passed away recently, leaving a husband and three small children. I want very much to express my sympathy and let this man know that I want to do whatever I can to help him, but I do not want to appear forward. I know him only to say hi to.

I am a divorcee, living alone (I'm new in town) and I'm afraid if I telephone him he might get the wrong idea. Also, this is a small town and everybody knows everybody else's business, and I wouldn't want it known that I called him — or wrote to him, because THEY might get the wrong idea.

If I call or write I'd like to say something out of the ordinary. Something witty, or eloquent. (Any suggestions along that line?) I want to let him know I am sincere in my desire to help him, without appearing forward.

ANONYMOUS: DEAR ANONYMOUS: If you knew his wife, "not well," and know him only to say hi to, don't call him. If you want to express your sympathy, send him a note, or card, but don't try for wit or eloquence. And please try to contain your eagerness to "help him." It's not the "wrong" idea he may get, but the right one which stands to kill your chances.

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 22 years is giving me the "silent treatment" again. What gets me is that he never tells me what he's mad about, he just clams up and doesn't say a word. This is much more annoying to me than a good tongue-lashing would be because at least I would know what I did to upset him.

Herbert is in his third day of the "silent treatment" and I am about ready to blow my stack. I keep begging him to put me out of misery and TELL me what's wrong but it's like talking to a wooden Indian. Can you help me?

SYLVIA: DEAR SYLVIA: Give him a taste of his own medicine. When he realizes that his silence is not provoking the results he desires, you'll hear plenty.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the person who wanted to know what to say to a friend who drove her to distraction by ending every sentence with, "KNOW WHAT I MEAN?" I used to do that, too but my mother broke me of the habit by answering each time, "No. I'm dumb. Please explain it to me."

After a while I got the hint, and I don't say that anymore.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GETTING DESPERATE" IN CHICAGO: So you're 29 years old, still single, and getting desperate? Your list of "prospectives" is very sad. (1) A sweet guy who swings both ways. (2) A married man who will divorce his wife if YOU ask her for the divorce and agree to pay for it. (3) A man, old enough to be your father, who wants you to sign a pre-nuptial agreement which will entitle you to nothing should he die first. Stay single, young lady. Better to be MINS Somebody than MRS. Nobody.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — It was difficult for 11-year-old Curtis Robinson and his sister, Tracy, 3, to be quiet after the tear gas was fired, but Curtis saved his $5 and he was happy. "I knew it was a robbery right away," Curtis said. "Boy, was I scared."

Curtis and Tracy had gone to the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Cleveland on East 131st Street Thursday to make a deposit, but instead they interrupted a robbery by two armed bearded men.

The men squirted tear gas at the manager and an employee — the only other persons in the office — and ordered the youngsters to "be still." The robbers

Miss Nancy Lee Sigmon Weds Herbert A. Weems

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT A. WEEMS

Wedding rites for Miss Nancy Lee Sigmon and Herbert Andrew Weems were read in the church of Christ in Circleville. The Rev. Don Brackin of Alabama performed the double ring service 2 p.m. June 28.

Baskets of white pompon mums and gladioli, and two seven branch candelabra adorned the altar with white satin bows marking the pews.

Parents of the bride and groom are Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Sigmon, 154 E. Mill St., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Weems, Towns Creek, Ala.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a full length gown with an empire bodice, A-line skirt and detachable train. The gown of nylon organza, lined with acetate taffeta, featured scalloped edges trimmed with delicate lace and sequins. Her bouffant two tiered, elbow length veil was held with a cluster of organza and lace petals enhanced with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums and yellow sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Connie Nixon served as maid of honor. She was attired in an A-line mint green satin gown trimmed with lace and a brief matching veil, and she carried a bouquet of yellow pompon mums.

Joseph Ballman of Dayton, performed the duties of best man, while Larry Sigmon, brother of the bride, and Mike Herron seated the guests.

Mrs. Sigmon wore for her daughter's wedding an A-line pink jacket dress with white accessories. Mrs. Weems was attired in a blue lace A-line dress with matching jacket and accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents immediately followed the ceremony. A white cloth covered the bride's table centered with a three tiered cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with the traditional bride and groom figurines. Encircling the cake were white gladioli, pompon mums and greenery. Yellow and white streamers were draped from wedding bells at the ceiling to the corners of the table. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Ritter and Mrs. Hubert Howard.

For a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, the bride wore a green and white A-line linen dress with white accessories.

The new Mrs. Weems graduated from Circleville High School and the Ohio State School of Cosmetology in HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The pressing question in beautiful downtown Burbank these days concerns the future relationship of Gladys Ormsby and Tyrone. Will Gladys finally accept Tyrone's attentions?

If Gladys and Tyrone are not household names, it is because the identities of "Laugh-In's" purse-swinging spinster and dirty old man have been kept as secret as that of it's very interesting Nazi soldier. His name is Wolfgang.

George Schlatter, the producer of the NBC series, and his partner, Ed Friendly, are raring to go for a third season of the fast-paced series that has become the most popular hour in television. Neither seems scared of the Nielsen height or the sniping that accompanies enormous success.

"When the show appeared as a special, they said it was fine, but that we couldn't hold the pace for a series," recalled Schlatter. "After our first season—half season, really, because we were a January replacement—they said, sure, but we'd run out over a full season. We didn't and so now they are still predicting disaster. Well, I don't think so."

There is a madcap quality about the Schlatter-Friendly operation that obviously infects the shows cast and writers and almost conceals the basically workmanlike operation of the series.

The partners were dashed but not emotionally destroyed that their second production effort, "Turn-On was the most dramatic disaster of last season: one show on ABC followed by cancellation.

Schlatter, with a long and occasionally bumpy career in television production behind him, is the ebullient, creative talent. Friendly, with a solid background as a network executive, is the production brains.

"You spend your whole life trying to find a once-in-a-lifetime thing," Schlatter commented. "I know, as far as I'm concerned, 'Laugh In' is it."

He can now shrug off but will never forget some disastrous moments in his career, including being fired.

"I remember when we had struggled through five or six Judy Garland shows I was producing, he recalled. "I was racing down the hall on the way to a rehearsal when Freddie Fields, Judy's agent, stepped out of an office and called out that he wanted to talk to me."

"I said, 'I can't now. I've got to go to work. He just said, 'No you don't. And that was the first I knew there was trouble and I'd been replaced."

Spectator Newspapers Sold To Cleveland Industrialist

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The financially - troubled Spectator Printing and Publishing Co., which publishes the seven suburban Spectator newspapers in greater Columbus, was sold Thursday to a Cleveland industrialist.

The new owner is Harry H. Stone, vice chairman of American Greetings Corp. of Cleveland and board chairman of Courtland Broadcasting Corp. which owns two radio stations in New York State.

No purchase price was announced.

The Ohio Division of Securities is investigating the Spectator's parent company, Ohio Radio, Inc., of Port Clinton, of which former Ohio Governor Michael V. DiSalle is board chairman and Robert Reider, publisher of the Spectator newspapers, is president. Charges against Ohio Radio include improper use of stock sale money. The securities division says the company poured $300,000 into the suburban newspaper chain which, according to the division, is insolvent.

At a hearing earlier this month, Ohio Radio surrendered its state authorization to sell stock. The rights were suspended by the state July 3. Ohio Radio has categorically denied the charges leveled against it.

In announcing the purchase Thursday, Stone said he would retain all staff members of the papers.

Stone also heads the Collinwood Publishing Corp., publishers of the Euclid News Journal, the East Cleveland Leader and the Scoop in Cleveland's Collinwood area. He is director and treasurer of Telarama cable television system in Cleveland's eastern suburbs and a director of Tenna Corp.

Marijuana As Dangerous As Other Drugs, Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Using marijuana can be just as dangerous as getting hooked up on the harder stuff, a probe of drug usage among Ohio youths shows.

Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown Wednesday said a statewide investigation by his office proves that for most youths it just as dangerous as other drugs. "Don't let them kid you," Brown said. "Marijuana is just like anything else. Some people can handle it but most of them can't."

Brown said the probe, made at the request of Gov. James A. Rhodes, is nearly complete. He expects to give a written report to the governor in two weeks.

Brown said three youths who dress and act the role of hippies have been instrumental in his undercover operations.

They were hired by Albert

Cook, Brown's chief investigator for the probe.

"They're real conservative boys, too," Brown said. "They've made buys in Cincinnati where police were unable to."

Brown said his office has worked closely with local police, informing them of the buys made by the undercover hippies.

Brown said the establishment of drug action committees in communities to brief parents and civic leaders on the drug problem.

He said the desire to belong is one of the chief reasons youths take up marijuana or other drugs.

They join the thrill - seeking groups after they have been rejected by their own kind, he added. "They want to join," he said.

SALT CREEK SUBORDINATE

Community Outreaches were given major consideration at the Aug. 18 session of Salt Creek Valley Grange. The Master, Francis Fraunfelder and the Home Economics Chairman, Mrs. Fred DeLong, voiced sincere appreciation for all facets of cooperation at the county fair.

Proud recognition was given Deputy Master Paul Dunkle for having completed his Master of Arts degree in Music Education at Ohio State University—a progress venture which prevented his recent attendance at Grange.

For the Youth Group, Dunkle told of a recent meeting at the home of Eddie Crites at which final plans were made for the Prince and Princess Pageant and Installation Team. Mrs. Hoyt Timmons was selected to serve on the hostess committee for the pageant.

AWS Deputy Master, Dunkle told of the State Fair, talent entries possible at the State Grange Convention in October, and the special conference for lecturers at Pilgrim Hills in September. He also gave a preview of the theme and supporting inclusions of the National Grange Program for 1969-70.

A contribution was sent to the Red Cross to help with gift bags for service men and to a Wayne Twp. Grange for aid to a needy family.

A program of "Thought and Action, Guidance and Evaluation" was supervised by Grace Anderson. Alternating piano solos were "Born Free" by Carl Dean Jr. and "Nobody Knows The Trouble I've Seen" by Randy Wolfe. Mrs. DeLong gave a number of historic highlights of Negro talent and achievement. By "Sentence Sermons" Mrs. Orley Judy gave many texts for applied inspiration. In "Live With Myself" Hoyt Timmons placed emphasis on many common challenges of life. "Don't Quit" was the assignment given by Leora Sayre.

After reading "My Get Up and Go Has Got Up and Went," Mrs. Anderson presented a humorous surprise featuring Paul Dunkle and Mrs. Carl Dean.

During the concluding social period, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dean Sr. and Carl Jr.

Paisley, "the Pope is the enemy."

"The Pope is in Rome," countered someone in the audience.

"He has emissaries," the Rev. Mr. Paisley said.

The heckling by pro-Irish Catholics of the Rev. Mr. Paisley, a key figure in the fierce struggle now gripping Northern Ireland, took place two years ago in a setting otherwise sympathetic to him, the Bible Presbyterian Church of Collingswood, N.J.

Its pastor, the Rev. Carl McIntire, has been a long-time supporter of the big, battling Irish preacher.

The American and the Irishman have similar backgrounds, having broken away from mainline Protestantism, formed their own separate groups and proceeded to oppose major Protestant bodies, their cooperative organizations and Catholicism.

Ecumenical advocates, says the Rev. Mr. Paisley, "are the biggest peace racketeers in the world."

Both men use similar tactics, such as staging counter-rallies and protest demonstrations at scenes where other Christians gather, accusing them of doctrinal apostasy and liberalism.

The Irishman, like the American, got his ministerial training in this country, in large part.

Today, after months of preliminary skirmishing, the fire-brand Rev. Mr. Paisley is urging on Northern Ireland's dominant Protestants in a bloody conflict with minority Roman Catholics.

"We must let the forces of popery know," he declared this week, "that we Protestants are here to stay and that we will remain in control."

BATTLE WINNER—Winner in the state's first statewide runoff election, William C. Battle (above) was nominated for governor of Virginia by Democrats. He will face Republican Linwood Holton in the November elections. Battle is a former ambassador to Australia.

In Northern Ireland the ancient fighting re-emerged on the old religious lines, obscuring the basic sociopolitical factors involved.

"No where else today do people cling to their religious prejudice nor bear such grudges for ancient wrongs" as in Northern Ireland, says a report in Presbyterian Life, journal of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Rev. Mr. Paisley launched his separate "Free Presbyterian Church of Ulster" in 1951. Its membership is uncertain, estimates range from 1,000 to several times that, but small compared with the main Protestant bodies of North Ireland—Presbyterians, Methodists and Anglicans.

The Rev. Mr. Paisley, 42, has been jailed twice in Northern Ireland, where Protestants outnumber Catholics 2-to-1 and control the government. He is pressing his fight against a "civil rights" movement, seeking to remove discriminations against the Catholic minority.

Use The Classifieds

Would you like to live in a house like this? It might be fun for awhile, but chances are that the novelty would soon wear off. When it comes to daily living, Americans are comfort-lovers. We want the latest car, deep freeze, stove or vacuum cleaner.

Because we pride ourselves on being modern, sometimes we are apt to think of going to church every Sunday as old-fashioned and out of gear with the present-day world. But the Church, in case you haven't noticed, is keeping up with the times far better than a lot of us. And isn't it true that certain basic truths, traditions and ideals cannot be gauged as modern or old-fashioned? The Church is ready to face tomorrow. Why not go next Sunday and see for yourself?

Use The Classifieds

Would you like to live in a house like this? It might be fun for awhile, but chances are that the novelty would soon wear off. When it comes to daily living, Americans are comfort-lovers. We want the latest car, deep freeze, stove or vacuum cleaner.

Because we pride ourselves on being modern, sometimes we are apt to think of going to church every Sunday as old-fashioned and out of gear with the present-day world. But the Church, in case you haven't noticed, is keeping up with the times far better than a lot of us. And isn't it true that certain basic truths, traditions and ideals cannot be gauged as modern or old-fashioned? The Church is ready to face tomorrow. Why not go next Sunday and see for yourself?

SHREWD SUGGESTION TO CUT WINTER HEAT BILLS

Gasoline Fumes Battle Lost?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although new cars will spew fewer noxious fumes next year, some federal officials concede the longterm battle against air pollution from gasoline engines is all but lost.

The 1970 model automobiles, due this fall, must meet federal standards that call for a one-third reduction in exhaust emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide from 1969 limits.

New cars delivered in smogburdened California, however, must meet an additional state test for 1970 models: Almost complete elimination of fuel vapor that escapes from gas tanks and carburetors. The vapors will be trapped and returned to the carburetor for burning.

The vapor trap won't become a federal standard until 1971.

Chrysler was the first major domestic car maker to pass federal emission tests for 1970. Other manufacturers are in the final stages of certification, a spokesman for the National Air Pollution Control Administration said.

Federal pollution experts project a gradual decline in gasoline-caused air contamination until 1980. All autos on the road by then are expected to have partial emission controls at least.

After that, pollution will swing upward because growing numbers of automobiles will cancel the gains from the control systems, the spokesman said.

For example, the carbon monoxide level in the Washington, D.C., area is expected to double by 1985, he said. Similar increases are forecast for other metropolitan areas, such as Philadelphia and Detroit.

"In short, we don't think the present kind of efforts will be enough," the spokesman said.

He suggested steam, electric, or natural gas powered vehicles may provide the only lasting remedy for gasoline-caused pollution.

A strong effort was made in the California legislature this year to bar vehicles with internal combustion engines after a specified date in the 1970s. The measure passed the state senate but died in the house committee.

Nonetheless, California remains the national leader in auto emission control. Its tightened exhaust standards for 1971 autos specify controls on nitrogen dioxide for the first time.

The federal government hasn't yet decided when to tackle the nitrogen dioxide problem. The oxide, plus hydrocarbons and sunshine, produces smog.

Yonnie Licavoli's Brother Listed As Leader Of Mafia

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The thick file the Ohio Parole Board has compiled on former Toledo gangster Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli does not mention Licavoli's brother Peter.

But a list issued Thursday by the Justice Department shows Peter Licavoli to be a top leader of the Detroit Mafia "family."

Gov. James A. Rhodes' top aide, John McElroy says, "I know of nothing in Yonnie's file to link him with any Mafia or gangster connections."

McElroy said Peter Licavoli's name never came up in Yonnie's long battle for freedom from the Ohio Penitentiary.

Licavoli was sentenced to life imprisonment 35 years ago on a first-degree murder conviction growing out of four gangland murders in Toledo.

Earlier this year, Rhodes reduced the charge against Licavoli to second-degree murder, thus making him eligible for parole. A Life magazine article which followed dealt Rhodes the most severe blow of his political career.

McElroy said Peter Licavoli's alleged connection with the Mafia is "not necessarily relevant" to Yonnie Licavoli's parole efforts. But he added, "it should have been considered."

McElroy explained that when Licavoli filed for parole a couple of years ago, he said he planned to live in Grosse Pointe an exclusive suburb of Detroit.

Under the terms of an interstate agreement, the Michigan Parole Board agreed to keep an eye on Licavoli.

But before a final decision was reached this year by the Ohio Parole Board, Michigan served notice that it no longer would accept the responsibility for Licavoli.

"A fresh inquiry into the matter could have been the reason for this," McElroy said.

Job Training Director Faces New Charges

CINCINNATI (AP) — The director of a job training center was charged with assault and battery Thursday night hours after he was sentenced in court on the same charge in a different incident.

Eva Montgomery of Cincinnati filed the latest charge against Dr. Robert Reid following a disorder at the Opportunities Industrialization Center he heads.

Reid charged the woman and five other persons, apparently instructors at the center, with assault and battery and trespassing.

Police said when they arrived they found a large group gathered in the center arguing about "internal matters." They gave no further details but Mrs. Montgomery's warrant said that Reid attempted to keep her from leaving a room and struck her in the eye.

In Hamilton County Municipal Court earlier, Judge William Lovelace sentenced Reid, brother of Cincinnati city councilman Arthur Reid, to five days in the Workhouse and $700 costs. Reid was convicted by jury of assault and battery in connection with a scuffle July 6 at a night spot here.

State Furniture No Bargain For OU's Departing Prexy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It cost former Ohio University President Vernon Alden $2,527 to take state-owned furniture with him when he left the president's mansion for a job with a New York bonding firm.

It wasn't exactly a bargain, considering the fact the furniture cost $5,074 new. Several of the 60 pieces were bought as far back as 1954.

Sale of the furniture to Alden met with the approval of the university board of trustees. The sale price was set by the Thomas W. Ruff & Co. appraisal firm.

Auditor Roger Cloud said he didn't object because the price was set by reputable appraisers and that university boards of trustees have the right to make such arrangements under state law.

The appraisal was made May 6. Alden left the university July 31. He is now with the First Boston Corp., an investment firm.

Alden paid in some cases as much as the items cost new. A secretarial bookcase, for example, was bought in 1959 for $175. It was sold to Alden for the same price.

Twelve dining room chairs bought in 1962 for $100 each went to him for $50. A love seat that cost $195 in 1956 went for $30.

Martin L. Hecht, vice president of the university, told Cloud it was customary to permit an out-going president to select items he would like to buy.

Otherwise, he said, they would be "stored or distributed throughout our dormitory system and deteriorate rapidly."

In addition, he noted, it is customary to buy new furnishings for a new president "compatible with the tastes and plans of the person using them."

Trustees dipped into their own pockets to buy the mansion's Steinway piano for Alden for $3,000. University officials said that was the price another appraiser put on it.

A university president's mansion, Hecht noted, is a focal point of meetings and entertainment for university guests. "The traffic and wear and tear on the furnishings is considerable," he added.

William Hoiles, administrative assistant to U. S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, said his boss isn't looking at political consequences of recent anti-administration actions.

"He's just trying to do what he thinks Ohioans want," Hoiles said. "I don't think he is worrying about re-election five years from now."

Hoiles, a member of the Ohio, California and Texas newspaper family of the same name, admitted in Columbus that Saxbe is trying to make inroads into normally Democratic Cuyahoga County.

Saxbe was personally hurt by his poor showing in Cleveland during the last election. Even the good margin he ran up in his opponent's hometown of Cincinnati failed to soothe his feelings.

"We still run into people in Cleveland who don't know who Saxbe is," Hoiles said. He said he recently ran into a sales clerk in a downtown department who hadn't heard the name.

President Nixon has. He will remember Saxbe's opposition to the surtax extension and the ABM.

Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown, admittedly uncomfortable around newsmen, has been working overtime in an attempt to learn how to deal with the inquisitive press.

As a Supreme Court justice, dealings with newsmen were unnecessary. It's a judge's written opinion, not his personality, that makes the headlines.

But in the partisan political arena as a possible candidate for governor, the role changes. He is in the center of what Harry Turman once unpolitely referred to as the kitchen.

Brown, in recent meetings with newsmen, has solicited their advice on releasing reports from his office.

In addition, he has purchased 5x7 pictures of members of the statehouse press crew and placed them around the walls of the attorney general's press room.

The prints were obtained from a Columbus photographer who annually takes pictures of members of the legislature and the press crew covering them.

School District Hires Consultant In Money Impasse

WEST CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — The West Carrollton Board of Education has hired a Chicago consultant firm to assist them in passing a tax levy and bond issue in the November election.

The Jerold Panas and Partners firm was hired for $2,000 to take a two week survey of voter attitudes towards the schools. Officials said the fee will be paid from the board's general fund.

Continued defeats of operating levies and bond issues have left the West Carrollton schools with a $600,000 deficit in the 1970 budget.

If the school board is satisfied with the results of the survey, it can ask the firm to stay and assist in the campaign for a fee of $10,000. The later fee would be paid by a citizens committee since a state law prohibits school boards from spending funds for political activity.

Policeman Wounds Man In Shootout

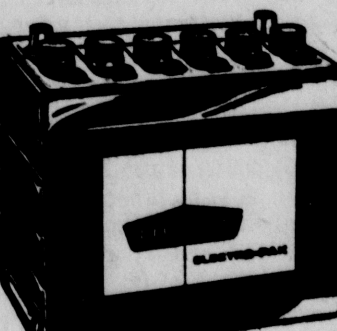

PLYMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A 43-year-old Plymouth man was seriously wounded Thursday night in a shootout with Plymouth Police Chief Robert L. Meiser after the chief found the man shooting at his ex-wife.

The shooting victim, Homer Brown, was taken to Willard Area Hospital where he was reported in poor condition with bullet wounds of the head and shoulder.

The chief said he was on routine patrol when he saw Mrs. Brown flee from a car and Brown fired at him. Meiser then shot the man.

SHREWD SUGGESTION TO CUT WINTER HEAT BILLS

It's the Gas Company's 12-month Budget Payment Plan. With this plan, you avoid peak Gas bills in the cold winter months. You spread the cost of winter heating over the entire year by paying the same amount every month.

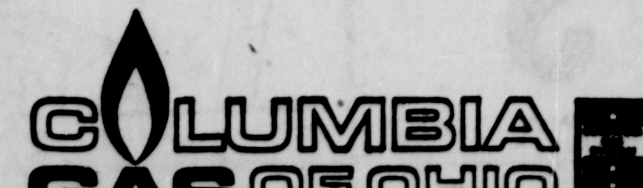

The amount you would pay each month on the Budget Payment Plan is shown on your Gas bill under "Budget Amount."

Don't let the ups and downs of the thermometer make downs and ups in your Gas bill. Enjoy the convenience of the 12-month Budget Payment Plan. It helps you plan your budget months ahead by simply slicing up your yearly Gas bill into twelve equal monthly bills. And that's slicing it pretty thin!

On your next Gas bill, read all about how you can join the Gas Company's Budget Payment Plan.

Mead Conflict Unchanged; Is In Tenth Day

After ten days of conflict at the Mead Papermill in Chillicothe, negotiations between union officials and the management are making little headway.

The three unions at the plant are scheduled to walk off their jobs next Thursday if their demands for a better adjustment schedule and more money are not met.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers local 731, the largest union at the plant, were the first to vote for a strike authorization. They turned down a contract proposal Aug. 11 and authorized a strike the next day.

The second largest union at the Mead, local 988 (Chillicothe), which has about 700 members, followed suit Aug. 15, after rejecting the management's new contract proposals.

LOCAL 728 (Construction Workers), which is the smallest union with 30-40 members, voted last Thursday for the strike authorization and passed it unanimously.

Present contract provisions call for a ten-day notice from either union or management before any strike or lockout. Union officials gave their required ten day notice late Monday afternoon.

All three locals have been working under an extension of a contract which expired Aug. 1. The contract was self-renewing until last Monday's union notice.

The unions have a strike fund, but it is unknown how much money there is in the kitty or how long the striking workers will be able to draw from its funds.

"Creative Carving," Dona Z. Meilach. A survey of the expanding world of today's carvers, who are borrowing from industry and from other art media to enlarge their repertoire of materials, tools and techniques. Hundreds of examples show what a rich and exciting art carving is today. There are stimulating ideas for the reader which can be used for his creative expression. Clear explanations, step-by-step directions and many illustrations show how to work with softest materials and simplest tools, gradually advancing to the more demanding techniques. A paring knife can be used on wax, soap and fruits; the traditional knife, gouge and chisel come into use with fascinating materials such as acrylics, plastic foams, wood, bone, shell and stone.

"The Story of the Olympic Games," John Kieran and Arthur Daley. The standard guide to the world's greatest sports competition completely up-to-date, including a full account of the winter games in Grenoble and the summer games in Mexico City. The authors describe the legends and scandals of the ancient Olympics and highlight the victories, defeats, and political undercurrents that have made the modern games memorable.

Reds Regain First Place; Bench's Homer Nets Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cincinnati's Al Jackson, who contends he is regaining his confidence, supplied plenty of proof Thursday night against St. Louis in the form of gritty relief work.

5-Game Streak Snapped For LA

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer Cincinnati's one-man Bench has the Reds sitting on top of the tight National League West again.

The Bench, a 21-year-old All-Star catcher with the first name of John, slammed a three-run homer Thursday night that gave the Reds a 4-3 victory over St. Louis and put them in first, one-half game ahead of Los Angeles, which lost 2-1 to Philadelphia.

Atlanta took the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Francisco nipped the New York Mets 7-6 in 11 innings and San Diego edged Montreal 1-0 in 10 innings in the only other National League action.

Los Angeles loaded the bases against Jerry Johnson in the eighth but couldn't score and had its five-game winning streak snapped. Dave Watkins gave Philadelphia a 1-0 lead in the second with an RBI single, and Deron Johnson singled in a run in the sixth to break a 1-1 tie. The Dodgers had tied it in the top of the sixth on Maury Wills' run-scoring single.

Golfer Shaw Kicks Slump, Leads Avco Golf Classic

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Golf Writer SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Tom Shaw, a smiling, personable young man, has won once, is fighting his way out of a slump and has quite a way to go to achieve his aims.

"I figure I'm behind Palmer," the soft-spoken 26-year-old quipped Thursday after the first round lead in the $150,000 Avco Golf Classic with a four-under-par 68.

Shaw made the Doral Open this spring his first victory in six years on the tour. Arnold Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner who is missing this event to rest an ailing hip, has 53 tour victories.

"I've been fighting him all year," joked Shaw, one of the flock of younger players who have moved to the fore this year.

Shaw, a native of Portland, Ore., who plays out of Golf, Ill., has over $48,000 in earnings this season, but has been in a long, long slump. He's missed the cut 11 times since his Florida triumph.

High winds, with gusts up to 30 miles per hour, swept most of the top names of the game well back in the field, but the biustery blasts bothered Shaw not at all.

Shaw held a one-stroke lead over Monty Kaser, winner of last week's Satellite Indian Ridge Open, and Canadian George Knudson. Tied at 70 were former U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, Claude Harmon Jr., son of the former Masters champion, and young John Lotz.

All but Lotz were early starters, with the afternoon players taking the brunt of the wind. Billy Casper had an 81, his poorest round as a professional. Masters champion George Archer had a 76. U.S. Open titleholder Orville Moody had a 75. Pre-tourney favorite Gary Player had a 77, matching his highest round of the year.

Lee Trevino withdrew with a back injury after going two under par at the turn.

retired St. Louis in order in the bottom of the inning. The Reds won 5-3 and moved back on top in the Western Division by half a game as Los Angeles was nipped by Philadelphia 2-1.

Jackson came on in the eighth with the score 4-3 Cincinnati, one out and men on first and third. He got Vic Davalillo to hit into a double play and kill the threat.

It really took the pressure off the game, Jackson said about the twin-killing. "I was just hoping we could get the double play.

Cincinnati took a 4-0 lead in the sixth on a three-run homer by John Bench, his 21st of the year. The Cardinals rallied to 4-2 on Joe Torre's 17th homer with former Cincinnati Vada Pinson on. He had reached first on a drag bunt.

Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver singled and both moved up on Phil Gagliano's long fly. Then starter Jim Merritt, 14-5, teamed with second baseman Randy Thomas kept the game from being a shutout as he slammed a homerun. Thomas added a single and Jeff Hawks cracked the other hit, also a single.

Perry Hoskins and Phil Roll pitched for the All-Stars.

HOSKINS started but couldn't check the Chillicothe batters. He allowed all six hits, walked three batters and fanned nine.

Roll appeared as a reliever and fanned a batter while walking two.

The Merchants scored four runs in the first inning, two in the second, two in the sixth and one in the seventh to win.

Next game for the All-Stars will be 6 p.m. Tuesday in Chillicothe.

Britton gave up an unearned run in the fourth to the East Division-leading Cubs who stayed 6½ games ahead of the Mets and eighth up on St. Louis.

The Mets scored three times in the seventh and then tied the game in the ninth on singles by Cleon Jones, Art Shamsky and Ron Swoboda, but saw their six-game winning string snapped on pitcher Don McMahon's single and Ken Henderson's two-out triple in the 11th.

Bobby Bonds hit two homers and drove in four runs for San Francisco, and Tommie Agee homered for the Mets.

Elyria Defeated In LL Series Semifinal

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Relief pitcher Pierce Burt walked home the winning run in the bottom of the final inning Thursday night as Nationalist China (Pacific) defeated Elyria Ohio, 4-3 in a semifinal game of the Little League World Series.

"I just gave him the ball and told him to go out there and pitch because we had no one in the bull pen," said Lefty Phillips, manager of the Angels.

In the only other AL game scheduled, the Detroit Tigers shaded the Seattle Pilots 7-6 on Mickey Stanley's eighth inning homer.

Kealey, who had pitched only eight previous innings in relief before the game and hadn't throw a ball in a week because of a sore arm, held the Orioles to seven hits. He fanned two and walked two.

A native of nearby Torrance, Calif., he signed with the Angels for a $1,000 bonus and had to go to a trial camp before making the team.

The Orioles, who are making a runaway of the AL East, had Kealey on the ropes in the fourth and fifth, but the rookie wiggled off the hook.

Mark Belanger opened the Baltimore fourth with a double, but Kealey got the next three batters. Baltimore loaded the bases with one out in the fifth on singles by Dave May, Clay Dalrymple and Marcelino Lopez, but Kealey got Don Buford on a pop up and Belanger on a liner to left field.

It was a remarkable performance for a rookie whose wife, Karen, is expecting their first child any day. And, also, because Kealey had been beaten and robbed by muggers at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., little more than a month ago. He had 11 stitches taken to close a cut below his right eye.

Sandy Alomar figured in both the Angels runs and made a loser of Tom Phoebus, the Oriole starter. Alomar doubled in the first and scored on Jim Spencer's single. In the fourth, Alomar singled home Aurelio Rodriguez.

Merchants Garner Slow Pitch Crown

The Circleville Merchants won the Circleville Slow Pitch Softball league Wednesday night, beating General Electric, 24-5.

Sponsors of the team are Boyer Hardware, Palm's Salvage, Weaver Furniture, Lindsey Bakery, L. M. Butch, Ward's Market, Prairie Lanes, Joe's Frosty Treat, Savings Bank, Tootle's Pumpkin Inn, Noel's King Boy, Mason's Furniture and Myers Barber shop.

Budde Post Leads Field

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Budde and Wisconsin—the two undefeated teams in the Great Lakes Regional American Legion baseball tournament — square off this afternoon in the third round of the tourney.

In the losers bracket, Pennsylvania meets Michigan and host team Pemberville goes against Illinois. The four squads have lost once in the double elimination tournament.

Pennsylvania eliminated Indiana 1-0 Thursday on a home run by Jeff Brookaw and Pemberville sent Minnesota home 5-3. Cincinnati Budde pitcher Bill Rothman went all the way in setting Illinois down 9-1 and Wisconsin downed Michigan 5-2.

Lightning Wave, driven by Marc Ferguson, was largely overlooked in the betting and paid $12.60, $4.80 and $3.60. Bossman Lobell placed for $3.60 and $2.60 and Prince Butler paid $2.60 to show.

The 5-2 daily double of Ohio Lad and Bradlos paid 19.00. A crowd of 4,513 wagered $215,130.

Lightning Wave Scioto Winner

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lightning Wave played catch-up Thursday night, coming up from fifth at the half to win the $8,000 Scarlet and Gray cup pace for three-year-olds at Scioto Downs.

Lightning Wave, driven by Marc Ferguson, was largely overlooked in the betting and paid $12.60, $4.80 and $3.60. Bossman Lobell placed for $3.60 and $2.60 and Prince Butler paid $2.60 to show.

The 5-2 daily double of Ohio Lad and Bradlos paid 19.00. A crowd of 4,513 wagered $215,130.

The NFL Colts, who found the Jets too much to handle in last year's Super Bowl, have taken three straight exhibitions from AFL opponents.

The Bills, who claimed Simpson in the draft after finishing with pro football's worst record (1-12-1), have won one of three exhibition games this summer. Their victory came over an NFL foe, the Washington Redskins.

U.S. Mum On Alleged Cuban Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have clamped a tight lid on details in the case of two members of Cuba's United Nations mission who are accused of trying to recruit refugees as spies.

Tanks, Troops Leave Prague

PRAGUE (AP) — Tanks and troops pulled out of Prague today after demonstrations on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion underlining the deep division between the Czechoslovak people and their Communist government.

Communist party leader Gustav Husak's regime sent tens of thousands of Czechoslovak soldiers and 60 tanks into downtown Prague Thursday night in a massive demonstration of military strength.

It shocked and angered many Czechs who remembered all too well how Soviet tanks took over the city and the country on Aug. 20-21 last year.

After five hours of maneuvering in the streets and spotlighting some apartment house windows, the tanks rolled back across the Vitava River and all but two left the city. Those two fell into a subway excavation. They and their weary crews were still there this morning, guarded by police.

The other army units also departed. Street cleaners began clearing away the debris left by the rioting in which the public showed its frustration at a year of occupation and increasing accommodation to Soviet Direction.

Prague Radio said five persons had been killed in riots — two youths 18 and 19 in Prague Wednesday night, and three persons in Brno on Thursday. The broadcast said 12 persons were injured in Brno.

Thousands of young Czechs clashed in Prague with the helmeted riot police, but many thousands more citizens demonstrated in more passive fashion. They responded with obvious enthusiasm to underground leaflets urging them to turn the anniversary into a "day of

Kent State Hikes Fees To $210 Per Quarter

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University students will pay an additional $20 a quarter in tuition fees beginning this fall.

The school's Board of Trustees passed the increase Thursday to put over-all fees for students from Ohio at $210 a quarter or $630 for an academic year.

The United States ordered Lazaro Eddy Espinosa Bonet, 25, to leave the country Thursday, charging he had attempted to get a Cuban refugee to undertake a mission "related to the security of the office of president of the United States."

A State Department spokesman confirmed the alleged incident occurred during the current administration, but said it "did not involve the personal or physical security of the President."

No other details were given.

But the New York Daily News reported in today's editions it was told by a Washington official that Espinosa, the third secretary of the Cuban U.N. mission, had tried to plot the assassination of the President "if and when necessary."

The newspaper said the diplomat hired a refugee to gather information on security measures at Nixon's Florida home.

More than 40,000 massed in Wenceslas Square. Crowds of youths resisted clouds of tear gas and truncheons of the security forces who finally cleared the city center.

Man Found Guilty In Snyder Death

Dealton Lee Morsie, Lebanon, was found guilty of second degree vehicular homicide Thursday in Municipal Court.

He was charged by the Ohio State Patrol in the death of David Richard Snyder, 19, of Mt. Sterling, July 17, when his semi-truck collided with the Snyder motorcycle and a tractor and wagon loaded with hay.

Morsie entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Judge Sterling Lamb ruled Morsie guilty of the charge and fined him $300, suspended a 6-month jail sentence and placed him on probation for three years.

State Department officials would not comment.

The other diplomat is Alberto Boza Hidalgo-Gato, 28, the first secretary of the mission, who is in Cuba and will not be allowed to return to the United States.

He is accused of attempting to gather information concerning operations of a U.S. military installation by recruiting refugees as spies.

A third Cuban at the U.N., Jorge E. Reyes Vega, 25, was warned to confine himself to his official duties.

Trainees' Ear Damage Gripes House Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ranking member of the House public health subcommittee today asked Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor to explain why the Army hasn't followed its own recommendations to prevent partial deafness to trainees.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., also asked Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in another letter to explain why the separate services haven't joined to prevent ear damage from the noise of weapons during training.

"It's unexplainable for one service to be doing one thing, another to be doing nothing and none of them coordinated," Rogers said.

In an interview Rogers also said the government has a double standard on prevention of deafness — requiring civilian contractors of the Defense Department to keep decibel levels low while needlessly exposing troops in training to damaging noise.

In his letters to Laird and Resor, Rogers cited an Associated Press report that thousands of soldiers in training suffer significant hearing losses because the Army doesn't provide proper ear protection.

"We have a stake in assuring that every man who enters combat is physically fit and not in any way hampered by such major or minor hearing difficulties which apparently have been resulting from this exposure to noise in boot camp," Rogers wrote to Resor.

"Needless to say, this government is endangering the well being of every serviceman who enters combat zones with a hearing defect," Rogers added.

One bit of possible protection, suggested as standard by Dr. Jerry L. Northern, chief audiologist at Walter Reed Army Hospital, is the type of ear muffs used by civilian airport crews. They cost $6 a pair and would be useful in training, Northern said.

But doctors at some bases decline to approve their use in most cases because they consider the cost too high.

In his letters, Rogers said: "The outlay of the Veterans Administration for hearing defects each year amounts to more than $32 million. So in addition to doing physical harm to the men themselves, it is costing the government a great deal of money to pay for this damage."

Top U.S. Hurricane Hunter Cites Need For Better Gear

MIAMI (AP) — While rescue workers pulled hurricane Camille's dead from the Mississippi mud, the nation's top hurricane forecaster said he gave Vice President Spiro T. Agnew "both barrels" on the need for better equipment.

"Nobody up there (the storm-struck area) had any fault to find with the job we did, but we know how much better we could have read Camille and the storm's intensity 12 hours earlier if we had had the kind of equipment we needed," said Dr. Robert H. Simpson.

Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center, toured the stricken area with Agnew this week.

"I gave him both barrels about what we didn't have and what we need," Simpson told the Miami Herald.

Simpson said he told Agnew, "Some old Navy Constellations which should have been junked years ago trailed Camille all day Saturday and didn't dare go into the storm because they knew their aircraft couldn't stand up under the pounding."

He said he "finally got an Air Force plane in there about 5 p.m. Saturday and it recorded the lowest barometric pressure ever found by any aircraft inside a hurricane of record."

"The Navy has a wonderful instrument package and lousy airplanes. The Air Force has wonderful planes and lousy instruments. It's past time for somebody in Washington to get everybody together."

The forecaster said funds for weather research should be tripled from their current annual rate of $750,000.

Agnew "listened to every word and made a lot of notes but he didn't promise me anything," Simpson said in an interview with a Miami Herald reporter.

"I gave him both barrels about what we didn't have and what we need," Simpson told the Miami Herald.

Simpson said he told Agnew, "Some old Navy Constellations which should have been junked years ago trailed Camille all day Saturday and didn't dare go into the storm because they knew their aircraft couldn't stand up under the pounding."

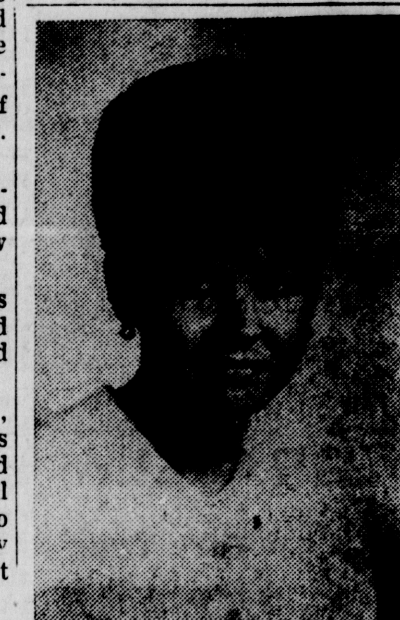

He said he "finally got an Air Force plane in there about 5 p.m. Saturday and it recorded the lowest barometric pressure ever found by any aircraft inside a hurricane of record."

"The Navy has a wonderful instrument package and lousy airplanes. The Air Force has wonderful planes and lousy instruments. It's past time for somebody in Washington to get everybody together."

The forecaster said funds for weather research should be tripled from their current annual rate of $750,000.

Agnew "listened to every word and made a lot of notes but he didn't promise me anything," Simpson said in an interview with a Miami Herald reporter.
